CHANGES IN THE FACULTY.

Prof. W. D. Baskett is absent on leave for a year attending the University at Berlin, Germany. His work will be in charge of Prof. F. A. Bernstorff, of Meadville, Penn. Prof. Bernstorff was graduated from Central Wesleyan College, Warrenton, Mo., in 1896. After some years of teaching he entered the University of Missouri and received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1902. The next two years were spent in pursuing graduate studies in German in the University of Missouri and in the University of Chicago. Last year, Prof. Bernstorff supplied the chair of Modern Languages in Alleghany College, Meadville, Penn.

Prof. Edward E. Wildman, who came to us in October 1904, immediately after the death of Prof. J. W. Kilpatrick, has returned to the University of Pennsylvania, to continue his graduate work. He is succeeded by Prof. John L. House, of the State Normal of Springfield, S. Dakota. Prof. House was a student of Vincennes University in 1893 and was graduated from the Indiana State Normal School in 1899. After holding several important positions, he entered the Indiana University and received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1903. During the last year he has held the chair of Biology and Geology, in the State Normal School, Springfield, S. Dakota. Prof. House is a man of ability and experience, and he has great advantage in his College work by reason of fine musical talent and mechanical genius. He is an enthusiastic collector and has preserved and mounted many rare specimens of butterflies, moths, insects, reptiles and birds.

Dr. J. B. Game goes from the Principal's place in the Academy to Yale University, where he is pursuing special linguistic studies. Prof. William Robertson, who has had large and successful experience as a teacher and superintendent in public schools in Missouri, has been elected Principal of the Academy.

Mr. Frank C. Bowles has gone to Hakodate, Japan, to take a position as teacher in the Government school. Mr. Worth J.

Osburn, an A. B. graduate of Central College, of the class of 1903, succeeds him. Since his graduation from Central College, Mr. Osburn has been a graduate student and Fellow in Mathematics in Vanderbilt University.

Mr. A. W. Vaughan leaves the Academy to pursue graduate studies elsewhere in preparation for larger work. Mr. T. S. Staples, a graduate of Emory College, Georgia, has been appointed to his place. Mr. Staples comes from the Graded School of Luthersville, Ga., of which he has been principal. He has a valuable experience in teaching.

THE COLLEGE SECRETARY.

Rev. Willis Carlisle, Presiding Elder of the St. Charles District of the Missouri Conference, has been elected the Secretary of Central College and has entered upon his duties. Brother Carlisle's fitness for this position is promptly recognized by all who know him. A man eminently fitted for this work by native gifts, by a large practical wisdom and by his thorough sympathy with the work of christian education, he fills the place. If these qualifications count for anything in the mind of the church in Missouri, we shall see the college prosper under his hand.

IMPROVEMENTS IN FAYETTE.

Fayette was laid out in 1824 and named in honor of Lafayette, who made his last visit to these shores at that date. Located in the midst of a rich agricultural country, it has always been the home of a prosperous people originally from Virginia, Kentucky and other southern States. It has furnished to the state some of the leading lights of pulpit, bench and bar. It has been an educational center almost from its foundation. Until the era of railroads its growth from a material standpoint was slow, but within the last twenty years its residences have been doubled in number, and nearly every building of prominence has been erected.

The current year dates the beginning of phenomenal progress, the birth of a "New Fayette." Block after block in both the business and the residential portions has had the worn wooden and brick sidewalks replaced by granitoid. The County Court has just let the contract for granitoid all around the public square on which stands one of the handsomest court-houses in the state.

Recently the citizens voted to issue $40,000 worth of bonds to erect a system of Water Works, which will be put into operation within a year.

Howard County is noted for its Salt Springs. Two years ago a boring was made inside the city limits to the depth of 860 feet from which water containing 1200 grains of salt to the gallon overflows at the rate of 12 gallons per minute. This water is utilized in a great swimming pool and hot and cold baths. These abundant saline waters indicate the probable presence of gas and oil at greater depths, and eastern capitalists have recently leased 5000 acres of land contiguous to Fayette for the purpose of making tests. They promise to begin operations on an extensive scale in October.

All the facts recounted above will indicate to the reader that Fayette gives larger promise than ever of being a good place in which to make a home and invest in business. A cordial invitation is extended to the world to visit Fayette, the Capital of Howard County, and the seat of Central College.

A REMARKABLE REVIVAL.

During the month of July Fayette witnessed the most remarkable revival in the history of Howard County, if not of Central Missouri. The revival was conducted by Rev. John E. Brown with the assistance of Mr. C. P. Curry under the general supervision of Rev. S. H. C. Burgin, pastor of the Methodist church, and received the hearty co-operation and loyal support of all the religious denominations represented in the city. The meeting was far-reaching in its influence and was successful in quickening into higher life all classes of society. Between six and seven hundred persons were at the altar during the meeting, one-half of whom, perhaps, represented new conversions who became eligible for church membership for the first time. One hundred and forty of them have already been received into the Methodist church and as many more into the other churches. A remarkable feature of the meeting was the large number of men who were reached, many of whom are heads of families and representative business and professional men of the city and community. Scores of younger men were also converted and reclaimed and one of the immediate results of the meeting has been the organization of a strong and vigorous branch of the Young Men's Christian Association among the business men of the community. The Association of Central College offers the right hand of fellowship to the new organization and bids it God speed in all of its undertakings. This is but part of a concerted movement now being made by our citizens for the purpose of creating a "New Fayette" which shall become the ideal educational center of Missouri Methodism.

ON THE CAMPUS.

The campus of Central College comprises 25 acres of rolling upland situated near the heart of the city. The original acre, the site of the old and somewhat stately building erected in 1855-6, lies two blocks from the Courthouse. The other acres have been added from time to time as sites for other buildings were needed. The older parts of the campus are set with groves of majestic forest trees; the newer parts are plats of grassland adorned here and there with flower beds. At the extreme north end is the Johnson Athletic Field surrounded with hill-sides that form a natural amphitheatre. Near these grounds will be built the new $10,000 Gymnasium. To those familiar with the campus, it will be interesting to know that the old building long known as "Stephens Hall" has been torn down. By its removal the campus has been improved because it stood nearly in front of Cupples Hall and obstructed the view of Centenary Chapel from the south.

EXPENSES.

To those going to college the cost of a year is a vital one. This varies very much in different institutions, but among western colleges it averages about the same. It may be a revelation to many to learn that the cost of running the institution is from three to five times greater than the amount the students pay in as fees and tuition. The cost of a year in Central may be summarized as follows:

Matriculation fee.....	$ 10 00
Tuition.....	from $ 40 00 to $ 50 00
Board and room.....	from $100 00 to $140 00
Books and stationery.....	from $ 12 00 to $ 18 00
Laundry	from $ 10 00 to $ 15 00
Total.....	from $172 00 to $233 00

This does not include such additional funds as may be needed for dues in the literary societies, for occasional public lectures, for Y. M. C. A. and church contributions and other incidental purposes. A general estimate would therefore run from $175 to $250.

DORMITORIES.

In order to reduce the cost of living nearly all institutions of learning resort to a system of college homes built for the purpose and called dormitories. Central has three such buildings known as Cupples Hall and Wills Hall, both for young men, and Coleman Hall for young ladies. These are genuine homes in charge of competent persons and all the appointments are such as conduce to comfort and health. The cost of living in the dormitories runs from $2.50 to $3.00 per week.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

At its recent session the Board of Curators established twenty-five Free Scholarships which are valued at $50.00 and furnish free tuition for the current year. These Scholarships will be distributed one each to the three Central College Academies at Fayette, Richmond and Palmyra, and one each to the twenty-two Presiding Elders' Districts of the State of Missouri. Some of these have not yet been awarded. For circular of information address the Registrar.

YOUNG WOMEN.

Central College is open to young women and they are welcomed to the Institution. They are nominated by the Faculty for degrees upon completion of regular courses and these are regularly conferred.

Arrangements have been made, for those who desire club life, at Coleman Hall under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. S. M. Williams who will have charge of the young women while there. Student life for the young women is made pleasant. The Academy is also open to such as desire thorough preparation for the more extended college course.

ATHLETICS.

"Mens sana in corpore sano" is and has been the motto of Central College. The erection of the new Gymnasium means increased attention to this important part of college life which is enjoyed by every well developed man.

As in the past, athletics will remain under the direction and control of the proper authorities but greater encouragement will be given and with the addition of some new men already promised it is expected that Central College will have a strong team in the field in both football and baseball, and that the close of the season will witness new triumphs for our men.

The plans for the Gymnasium have been drawn by a competent architect and include running track, director's room, shower and plunge baths, recreation room and all the appointments of a first class gymnasium.

The site selected completes the east side of the quadrangle overlooking the Johnson Field and is easy of access after games as well as to the men in regular training.

INCREASED ATTENDANCE.

An increased attendance is already assured for the coming year. There has been a healthful agitation of the interests of this college throughout the state the present summer by pastors, former students, alumni and friends and it is bearing fruit.

New helpers have been developed and there is a strong tendency to a general rally among all the friends of higher christian education. The Board of Curators stands pledged to greater things and even now plans are being wrought out which mean much to the future of Central College.
